Good vs Evil: Pick A Side, Clyde Political Carnage

For what it's worth, ever since something with limbs crawled out of the primordial ooze, there's been a war between Good and Evil.

There are no perfect Human Beings, and our leaders always have flaws, so we are forced by circumstances to pick the lesser of, and we get someone with whom we agree at the outset and then agree to disagree as time goes on.

Essentially, we accept the flawed human because their intentions or work, benefits society as a whole.

However, this 'better outcome' is only possible if we pay close attention and take our responsibility as members of society, seriously. We know in advance what we are getting. Right?

Y'all went to those rallies where the crowd was riled up to shout, spit at, threaten and menace the press that was covering it... And you enjoyed that, right? You know who I'm talking to. Hit dogs holler so if you're clearly on the side of good and the dignity of your fellow citizens and don't need a scapegoat to vent your anger at because you are too lazy to look at the real picture, sit down and watch the show. Christmas is coming and you may have some relatives at the table who can't look you in the eye.

F47 (truly, I say his real name as little as possible) gave all the greedy but lazy yahoos all the targets to aim their misdirected anger so they wouldn't have to look at the source of their discomfort, and boy did they buy in! Blame the immigrants, refugees, LBGTQ (the whole alphabet if you want!), the women who need healthcare to save their lives (make abortion illegal so more women die—that'll teach 'em! Yeah!)...

He promised you nothing you could use to make your life better. He promised you the pain he would inflict on others, and y'all jumped for that like trained seals for a dead fish tossed out in your direction. How many times did he say: “I am your Retribution”? 100? Oh wow! He’s gonna go after immigrants, gays, women, Black People, Brown People! It’s all mine! – but tell me, how did hurting other people, people who were not to blame for any of your discomforts, people who were in fact the glue that had kept this rag tag democracy running by harvesting our food in weather we could not survive; who worked in our meat packing plants doing the dirtiest jobs, the riskiest jobs, working on farms, and in construction, landscapers, nannies, medical staff ... all of them hunted down by masked men with no identification who didn’t care if they were legally working or not--how did that help you?

Rounding up people indiscriminately, ignoring legal papers, ignoring citizenship, and then renditioning them to countries where they were imprisoned, tortured, brutalized, and had committed no crimes—how’s that making the price of eggs better for you?

Your wages are low because employers – especially billionaire corporate employers, bought the government and declared that if people made a living wage, they would lose profits. Boo—f’g—hoo.

But now you can say the “N” word! Wow! You can tell other human beings they can’t use bathrooms. Men who say they want to protect women and girls are literally barging into bathrooms and forcing young girls to prove they are girls... Yeah, “Protection”. And no one is arresting them for sexual assault. Well, we can see one class of citizens who are really happy about the changes staining our formerly respected society. Men who can force young girls to show their genitals, and get away with it. By the way, when the distraught young girl complained, the restaurant threw her and her family out, and let the pedophile enjoy his dining experience. How’s that for ‘retribution’?

Oh, the party hasn’t stopped yet. He wants to strip citizenship from those born here and from those who became citizens... Ooooh! The Power! Delicous!

And to prove he’s destroying the country, he has literally taken a wrecking ball to the White House itself. A symbol we grew up with for generations that represented the best in governments, the most decent in nations, and he wants to replace it with a “ballroom” the size of a stadium because what better defines a palace than a ballroom of marble, dripping in gold, expensive chandeliers... now that’s something the dictators of the world that he admires so much, would envy, right?

Hundreds of billions of dollars, no permits, no permission. He has claimed the government and the country and all it's resources, his personal property to do with as he pleases. He doesn't even have to ask permission to destroy it. Any of it. All of it.

Legacy media immediately went docile, begging for belly rubs, smoothing over his criminality to appease him lest he sue them personally for billions, as he did universities, CBS, NBC, ABC, etc. Money that goes into his pockets, not the government's. And they caved... all of them, because they are owned by billionaires who want to have more billions, and really don't care about the nation or information and are too gutless to fight back, even though they would win, easily and much less expensively.

He's got the Epstein Files and videos and pictures, and all he has to do is threaten to expose them and they pay him tens of billions... but like Columbia University found out, it doesn't stop if you pay him. Their top guy got exposed anyway and he had to resign... with a big fat pension.

He's using our military to murder people in small boats out on the high seas. No proof that any of the killings were remotely justified. He claims they were narco traffickers. Typically, and legally, you have to have proof. And my guess is that none of these 88 people he's had slaughtered were anything but fishermen. They had tiny boats with outboard motors --- they can't go more than 100 miles in any direction and they were more than a 1000-1500 miles from our shores. They were murdered without any evidence of who they were, much less of what they were doing.

He just pardoned one of the biggest drug lords ever in history: The ex-president of Honduras who it was proven in court, had delivered over 500 tons of cocaine into the USA. But he's into crypto and so is f47 and his adenoidal family members, so, yeah, he was making billions and if there's anything f47 admires, it's biiiiig criminals. They are pals now. But the fishermen from Trinidad? Blow them out of the water.

Legacy Media is gently suggesting this might be hypocritical. And leaving it there.

Price of eggs? Wait until you see the cost of health insurance. Remember last time? 2016-2020? He again had maga piggies trying to take that away more than 55x. Remember how they labeled the ACA "ObamaCare" as a slur? People literally voted for people who promised to end it and then and now, are shocked that Republicans are killing it and it's costing 300-1300% more to insure your family, and get less coverage.

Don't worry, just like in 2016, they are going to reveal their plan for health care and it's going to be waaay better than ObamaCare... in two weeks. It's been 10 years now and that plan is still super secret. We were told two weeks ago (two weeks, two weeks, two weeks) it was going to be revealed last week... and... crickets... but that's ok, they're strangling ObamaCare, so that's the important thing, right? Retribution! Yea! More Retribution!

I laugh when these pathetic maga asshats go to the foodbanks now, and they don't wear their red hats. I wonder why?

Hey, buddies, immigrants didn't do this to you. LBGTQ didn't do this to you. Black People, Brown People, Muslims, Hindus, Asians didn't do this to you. But the people who did this to you? They are richer than ever now. Republicans are too weak to fight for you and too greedy to care. If you listen to them, they will tell you how they are victims of (name a minority) and that they will fight for you. They will be your RETRIBUTION.

Some of you are still eating from that same outhouse. Too mad at what you've brought down upon your own head (hoping to hurt others tends to have that result), and too star struck by celebrity to see what's behind the curtain, and afraid to look and see the smoke machine that had both delighted and blinded you for so long.

You got here because you wanted to blame someone else. You're still here because you aren't willing to take personal responsibility for buying into the obvious lies, racism, misogyny and mindless hate of your fellow human beings. You're still angry and still a victim because you are a coward. Grow up. Redeem yourself. Quit trying to make lies the truth and truth the lies. Quit blaming and hating the wrong people. Stop blaming the powerless for the damage done by the powerful.

That's kinda my way of saying "fuck off", but more polite.

The USA has been destroyed by racism, ignorance and misogyny. It's up to us to rebuild it and to find our place in a world where we used to be respected for our decency, dignity and compassion.

The damage is done, but we aren't. Be cautious of converts seeking your protection. Contrition is often temporary, until the next opportunity to bully and abuse the vulnerable. We must all be much more aware.

What took centuries to build has been destroyed in mere decades of erosion where the wrong, the evil was allowed and accepted because it was profitable. What we have now are the smoking, dusty ruins of our once great nation. Vote for dignity, compassion, truth, courage and decency. If your candidate lacks any of those qualifications, find another.

If you vote for hate, hurt, and false gods, the ashes will cool and we will, as a nation, be buried in history. Rise up. Stand up. Speak up.

You with the Red Hats—Shut up.

You know where to find me.
