Wintering

Not yet freezing, but it will get there. Have you all decided to find a way to come together to stop the genocide? Have you decided to find a way to help yourself by helping your community? Have you seen the fear on the faces of the corrupt Tribal Council members when you confront them on their criminal behaviors?

Still 'waiting' for things to get better? Better start digging then. Make sure you have a lot of pre-dug graves for the children you will be losing this winter. Children who see no point in surviving only to have more apathy drain their energy, more self-pity instead of action and alliances, more addictions and alcohol as the path to nowhere shining ever brighter.

They need guidance, but you give them excuses. They need role models but you give them your absence by your addictions and your denial. Start digging those graves. Your children are having children and they will not survive either, so dig some little tiny graves while you are at it.

Make it easier to bury your future.

Make it easier for you to feel sorry for yourselves and do nothing. As long as the holes are already dug, and in a very real sense, you have been digging their graves for decades, you can then spend the rest of your time doing whatever is more important to you than the children you have let down and the future which will be even colder than the worst of winter, when your progeny turn into thistles for the winds to blow away, playfully.

Need Meeting Times

Need to have you tell me the times and dates of the meetings so that I can post them here and you all can at least have the same information. More members show up when the times are posted in a place where you know everyone will look.

And read again your Tribal Constitution and policies, and know that any meeting that is not scheduled and posted enough time in advance (and there is a prescribed time) is not a legitimate meeting.

For instance: The last meeting which was changed several times from Thurs to Weds to Tues and then with less than 45 minutes notice, held "spontaneously", and the doors shut early to keep you from having your say, those meetings are illegal and you can demand a recall based on the fact that your Tribal Council has denied you your rights and privileges and illegally held a vote without proper notice.

Quit making it easy on them. They are doing nothing for you. Look at the millions they roll around in, lavish on themselves and your homes go cold, your food not good enough for a dog much less your family. They live high on the hog, their homes are warm, and they take vacations at your expense. Then claim the tribe is broke and there is no money for YOUR heating oil, but plenty, somehow for them and theirs.

And why is Mark Lufkins still traveling at Tribal expense? Why is he still attending conferences at Tribal Expense?

Why are you unable to get a true accounting from each of the Tribal Council Members, and the Secretary Treasurer, as to what money is where and how much is being spent and on what?

SMC declares a $32 MILLION dollar Profit this year! Where is your share? Probably in their new cars, their vacation homes, their First Class Travel to luxury resorts, and in their off shore accounts. I see that Carl Walking Ego has found yet a new location in Minnesota to bury his coffee cans. I wonder who he has keeping an eye on that place for him? Over $10K per can, some filled with only $100 bills, much more.

The Ronin Scam continues to bleed you all dry. Your Senator and Congressman continue to ignore your pleas for help, for investigation and for justice. So, why do you applaud when they show up?

Start sending a stronger message. Get together and continue to get together.

The TC and the Turdclan are laughing at you, and your children are drowning in your lies. Let me know when it has cost you enough money, enough children, enough babies and enough tears that you think you might find the time to do something to save yourself.

Or were you waiting for someone to fly in with a red cape and blue tights to do it for you?

Checking my closet: Nope, no capes, no tights. So, obviously it is not my job to be your comic book ending. It is your job to be the foundation of what is left of your future.

You can change things. You just have to find a way to come together.

You know where to find me.

A New Section of the Website is under construction.

I have not forgotten about the blog. Just a lot on the go.

Oh? You want a sneak peek at the new section?

Well, okay... Thistles there ya go!

A hard look at the permeation of alcohol and drugs into the culture of the rez, and more importantly, into the young people. Too many Indians are dying. The genocide is from within, and so that is where we must look and where we must work if we want to end the unjust practices of the corrupt and the futility of the young.

"Dry Reservation" my ass.

How To Be Popular

We all know about peer pressure and the need to belong and be accepted by our peers, especially in our teens and early 20's. Unfortunately, on the rez, the road to acceptance is paved with dead and crippled young adults and the misery they leave in their drunken wake.

Take Riley Smith for example. His daddy has a biiiig ranch and is in really tight with the Turdclan for some reason. I thought it was because he was on the count team at the casino, but now, I am not sure he works for the casino, but he has plenty of pull with those in power. He provides his son with booze parties and whatever else he wants.

Riley, as you might remember, ran down an old man who was just walking on the road that drunken Riley thought was all his. That man is still fighting for his life. What is his life worth? Not much. Riley got out on $500 bail and the partying goes on! The more he can prove he doesn't care, apparently, the more attractive that makes him in his peer group.

He likes to say that he is made of solid steel and sex appeal and afraid of nothing, but the truth is, after he hit and ran that old man, he was pissing all over himself while trying to wash the blood and hair off of his vehicle at the marina. Or, as one writer put it, "ain't no hoses at the marina. His grandmother lives close by..." Okay, either way, he's a coward and he did piss himself.

Let's have a look at Riley at the party his daddy put on for him at the ranch or wherever, and look in the background. Clearly you will see there are adults there aware and supplying the booze to the underage kids. I highlighted the adults in the background just so there would be no doubt.

Yup, as long as you don't need to possess decent character, you too can be real popular!

Team Spirit

Is there any doubt as to why the Ballers lost at State? Do you really think they were not drinking and drugging? Not sure which is the bigger disgrace: Them losing like a bunch of drunken Indians, or the fact that they don't respect their supporters enough to give it a sober try. Adults who are supposed to guide these young men into adulthood, are apparently driving the beer truck for them. Ladies and Gentlemen, I give you your Beer Team!

Spawn of Pisster

*(Correction) turns out the be Cameron Black afterall. Read Oct 30th for details)

This is Willie Herman and his ice pipe. Ice, meth, whatever. Being first cousin to Zit Puppet, as well as his bed buddy, he knows that he can do this when and wherever he wants and no one, especially the badgers, will notice. His "friends" call his fried ass "Cameltoes". I can only imagine why. Let's see, he has a job with the tribe, right? But they either warn him when the 'random' (*POP!) drug tests are coming, or they use Ryan Leaf's urine to pass him.

People writing in so far seem to be not surprised that most of the drinking and drugging parties are attended by or sponsored by members of the Turd Clan. THIS, my friends, is what you are allowing to run your lives.

I got all these photos, so far, that I have posted, sent to me from people who use BEBO.COM. This is where they proudly display their antics, drinking and drugging. This is the community that they want to impress. They want to prove how stupid they are not only by drinking and drugging, but by posting it online for the whole world to see!

What? You afraid to look? Allow me to be the one to rub your little noses in it. You can see that these behaviors run right out in the open most of the time. Adults are present and contributing, with no fear of being held accountable.

Your kids are not afraid to die. They are afraid to live. If they wanted to live they would not be doing all they could to destroy themselves, damage their brains and their bodies, and worst of all, imprinting their young children with this kind of behavior as acceptable.

Zit Puppet and Sidekick

Zit Puppet had one of his many court appearances earlier this week. Oddly enough, along with him, riding shotgun, was Lois Leban's kid, Randy. Zit Puppet doesn't seem to care how he disgraces the tribe by driving drunk (3rd offense), driving without a license or on a suspended license and driving without liability insurance. Also, the Tribe pays his lawyer, pays his fines and if there is a lawsuit because he kills or cripples someone while driving drunk, without a license and without liability insurance, the Tribe will pay that lawsuit as well. This hasn't cost him a thing, especially not even his position as Secretary Treasurer. Really nice of you all to let him go on that way. Shows you don't care and have no worries about how he disrespects your tribe.

The Party Continues

Time for another recall. Oh, and do have a chat with felons such as Sam Merrick and the rest of them that sabotage these petitions. Also, Vern Lambert who supports the verdicts of these petitions being thrown out, even though he has no education in law-- not even sure he graduated high school. Say, what is he doing running the Education Board out there? I hear he got a big fat raise after his son got raped by Zit Puppet. Bet his kid feels great about having his own dad sell him out like a pimp.

You know where these people live, and you know their families. You need to sit down and have a long discussion with them about the damage being done and whether or not they want to continue to be affiliated with the evil that has paid them so well in the past and cost you the lives of your children, all of them recently.

I would promote the good news of the few kids out there who have kept their noses clean, avoided drugs and alcohol, but I know that would spark a retaliation from the mob mentality that thinks beating the crap out of someone makes the silence safer for them and their stupidity.

Silence is Violence, they say. Silence only protects criminals. Time to make a choice on what you want to be IF you grow up. You want to be a part of the degradation and the evil that is killing that community? Or you want to be a part of future of healing and redemption? You want to have a positive impact? Or you want to stay quiet and support that which is killing your children.

Your children learn from what you do. Be a hypocrite and they learn not to trust you and not to have any self-respect. Be a stand up person and they learn values and how to be brave.

Look at the amount of drugs and alcohol out there. You think it got that way by nature? Or you finally waking up to see that it got that way because the people in power have created and allowed it to thrive?

Make a choice, make it now. Find a way to come together. Find a way to raise your voices as one. Find a way to stop the mindless processions of children to the graveyard. Or do what you have always done--nothing.

You know where to find me.

Magic Tricks

I see the photos have roused some of you from your stupor. You are angry because I posted the photos of this behavior? Gee, where did I conjure up these embarrassing snaps? (*Stares up at Full Moon, taps chin with patient finger) AH! They were already posted, by the very kids whose behaviors you don't want to see! Not really magic at all. I just take their stupidity and arrogance and put it where it can be shared with all!

Some say that the photo of the meth head lighting up is not Willy Herman, but is Cameron Black. No matter. The problem is not whether or not I have the name right (I have over 400 photos to sort through and I am sure you will find your favorites in there soon enough), but rather the fact that he is smoking that crap.

The parents of most of these kids get all the high paying jobs and honors in the Tribe, eh? Big surprise. Corrupt behaviors, criminal activity is how these kids learned to flaunt their bad behaviors.

For Those like Walking Egos and the rest of them that are angry at this, I have news for you and another trick: This is just a preview of what will probably plant your child or grandchild either in prison or the graveyard really soon. Now, concentrate (*plays out tombstones and crosses like playing cards) pick a grave, any grave from the deck. Look at it. Memorize it. Now, put it back in there and hope it doesn't get drawn by the Reaper on the next round of parties, which I am sure, you will not want to know anything about.

(I still say that ice-head is Willy. I could be wrong. Willy doesn't look that good lately...)

Nothing Changes

And just so you never get too bored or too comfortable: I am working on the Thistles page all week.

Now, tell me who you are angry at: Me for putting the photos up there? Them for putting the photos up there where everyone in the world could see them? Them, for behaving that way? Them for memorializing their bad behavior with digital dumbness? Or are you really angry at yourselves for failing to set the proper example in your own character and conduct. Angry at yourself for being the hypocrite that raised a drunken junkie? Angry at yourself for doing nothing?

Plenty of anger to go around. Feel free to misdirect it my way. It only proves you are hopeless in your thinking and ignorant of your own culture and what has become of it in the hands of those who carry it into the future.

One writer was angry, saying no one will do anything and my posting those pictures just made everyone angry.

Not so. Some are writing, giggling and laughing at how the mighty are exposed by their own indulgent offspring. And, if I have made you angry, then good! Good because I have pierced your blankets of denial and made your discomfort move you, if only to the next layer of blankets, still, it is a start!

Look at what those kids are doing. Whom are they following as role models? It's more you than you want to realize, but you know it's true.

You want to save them? Or your just your fictional illusion of superiority among your community? Let's see where you put the effort: Blasting me or fixing the problem.

Oh we have so many photos to go through!

I would have thought that any parent, especially ones who hold themselves in such high esteem, would be happy to see photos of their kids having fun. What? No applause?

You see what they are doing, will you still deny that you taught them?

I see Riley Smith, the hit and run Honey-bun "solid steel and sex appeal" has yet to stop partying. The old man is in agony every day. His family suffers with him, and "Slim" as the toad likes to call himself, just kegs on as if nothing has ever happened. His daddy supports that behavior, so you all can be real proud to know him as well.

I ask you this: Is that the best your money can buy for you? A drunken, pissing himself hit and run son?

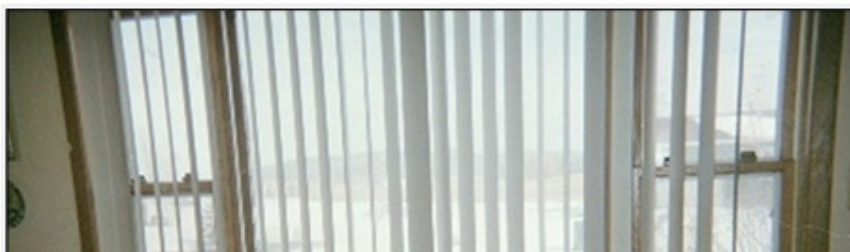

Except for his pants, Poopsie's adult diapers, and a few of the names... nothing changes out there. Not young offenders, not old. You all just ignore the next series of photos. I don't think you will like them any better than the first batch.

You know where to find me.

Teaching The Children

Some of you are going to find this picture very disturbing. The comment on the page where this was posted, I believe by the woman holding the beer, was that Child Protective Services would remove her children if they ever saw this.

If that is true, and she doesn't want to risk losing her children, why is she not cleaning up her act? Why is she making it a point of posing and then posting a situation that could threaten her family?

Is it because she does not love her children? I don't think so. I think she loves them lots. I think she really doesn't get it. She is, like so many out there, modeling a beer commercial rather than responsible parenting. Notice how the little girl shares the beer pose.

These kids grow up thinking that this is what life is. Think that this is how you parent your children. Further, that the alcohol is what you are proud of.

Now this may surprise you, but hear me out. I don't think she should have her children taken away from her unless she is driving with them while she is drinking or drunk. Unless they are being molested by her or anyone she brings into the house, they should not be taken from her.

Think about it: If you take all the children from all the homes where this is taking place, it will be a replay of the abductions of children taken from their families and their communities in order to "save them" that was played out when the barbaric "Residential Schools" contracts were laid out and the result of that is still being played out today, and is very likely a contributing factor in this woman's behavior and the behavior of so many adults like her on the rez.

Taking the children away won't help in this kind of situation. It will only alienate them, disenfranchise them and isolate them. And THAT, my friends, is if nothing worse happens to them in the Foster Care System that we KNOW is flawed and dangerous to so many vulnerable young children.

Rather, it should be mandatory and enforced that these parents get training and counseling. That they are taught and must participate in, sessions that deal with their behaviors and enable them to overcome their own flawed logic and addictive behaviors so that they can better parent their children and perhaps, their children will have a chance to grow into something better than just the next generation of drunken Indians.

We must work, diligently, and as a community, to heal from this kind of behavior. To undo the denial and to reveal how destructive and dangerous this behavior is. Further, we have to make it not acceptable to engage in these activities, especially where minors and very young babies are involved. By involved I mean, participating as they are in this photo, but also if they are in the same house and they can smell it, hear it, taste it or see it, it is imprinting their psyche with the message that this modeled behavior is going to be their behavior.

Is the woman in that photo a bad mother? No. She is ignorant of how much damage she is doing. Further, she is not alone. So, before we all rush to condemn her, remember: The community has taught her by their own denial, their own apathy, their own behaviors that this is acceptable.

If we don't strive to change that now, you can see who is going to carry it on down the road. The best way to protect the children is to educate the parents. The worst thing that can happen to those children is that they are traumatized by their mother being taken from them or they are hurt because of her behaviors.

30 Years

How Time Flies when you are under your blankets eh?

30 Years of corrupt Tribal Councils has allowed pure evil to permeate the Spirit Lake Nation. You can see, and this is the most innocuous of the photos that I have, that it continues to take down the children, even before they have a chance to defend themselves or know what is right or not in their own behaviors.

Why, it seems like only yesterday we all got the news of a dead body, beaten beyond recognition, was found on the highway. And we all remember that before it could be identified officially by fingerprints, that Weenie Boy, Q-Ball and Poopsie were telling everyone that it was Eddie Peltier they found. Considering that the clothes he was wearing were not his (They belonged, in fact, to Q-Ball) and there was no ID on him, one wonders how they knew. (*POP). Oh! I keep remembering that it was they, along with Sister Pisster, that murdered him and staged the scene out on the highway!

And now, since that hot summer day in 83, they have been running every aspect of your lives. You allowed this, and you continue to allow it.

No wonder the children are drinking, drugging and racing one another to the graveyard.

This is Monday's blog, but I am posting it on Friday Afternoon to remind you all that the weekend is here. Do you know what your children are doing? Do you know with whom they are doing it? Or do you care?

So, who gets the knock on the door Sunday Morning? Who drew the cemetery card out of the deck of apathy this weekend?

Alcohol and Drugs, So Glamorous!

Can't wait to get these onto the Thistles page. Kind of reminds me of those signs on the ass-end of big rigs: 'How's my driving? Phone 888-____' I look at these kids and some of their mentors and wonder if any of you is willing to make the call that something big has done been running off the road.

Seriously, were they shooting for glamour? Sex appeal? Or was it a race to the bottom of the bottle?

I see this kind of thing and I know they have bad home life, low self-esteem, full of anger and who can blame them? Somebody raised them to believe this is where it is at.

So, do they get angry at the girls in the picture? Or do they wake up that the problem is in the community and all that is being revealed here is the symptoms that so many would like to ignore?

This is what friendships and peer acceptance are based on out there. What are you doing to do about it?

That's what I thought.

Like moths to the fire, drunker and drunker, higher and higher.

verns lol n me n rob

Friendship is at a premium on the rez. You have to have people around you can trust. The price of admission into acceptance: Your soul, your health, your mind and your future. Don't worry about your family, they've already been had.

When asked "what do you want to be when you grow up?" I wonder how many say "drunker" or "permanently high" or asks: "what makes you think I will live long enough to grow up?"

This is your future. This is what you taught them.

Oh ya, there is more to come!

You know where to find me.

What Will She Wear?

I hear that Naked Lawn Ornament's mother passed away this afternoon. This, being Sunday, but since we like to post the blog in advance, know that I mean "Sunday". She probably died of embarrassment for having hatched such an evil egg as NLO.

I have no idea as to when the funeral will be, nor do I much care. I am curious as to how theatrical NLO will be over this whole thing. She and her mother got along like Oil and Water. I wonder what NLO will wear to the wake and the funeral? Perhaps that snappy pink flamingo outfit?

I know she will be expecting you all to show your respects to her for this. I say, let her pay you if you attend. She is paying herself and her family, after all, you know, that funeral money is for the very wealthy too!

I would love to have some photos of NLO at the funeral, and wherever. I want to see her sad face. The one she has been practicing in the mirror, trying to not break into a grin, all afternoon. She gonna drag those drunken and stoned offspring of hers with her? Think they will be able to not burst into giggles?

Nuking Denial

Well, looks like the thistles page is making quite a stir! The excuses some of you dimwits are making for these behaviors are as comical (and as tragic) as the denials you used to wallow in. The kids are killing themselves and doing it to impress one another. Get it? Or do you only understand that you don't get another chance to save them once they are oh so cold lying in that grave that you dug with the lies you tell yourself even now?

One guy who lives out in some canyon with his grandfather, in a trailer, likes to have a lot of these 'get togethers' where underage drinking and big ol' bonfires are going full tilt. He likes to provide the alcohol and the party place so that the young virile boys will attract the pretty underage things and he can make his Peter Pan moves on the little cuties after they have had a few beers or hits and think he is just sooo cute!

He likes them young so they can't follow him into the bars when he wants to have a real good time.

All these kids think Peter Pan is their hero. I wonder how many have run off the road after one of his parties? You think he cares? Oh the thought of him caring about these dumb young kids is enough to push coffee out my nose!

I see that Riley Smith's daddy throws lots of bashes for him and supplies the kegs and the cans. And I see the Turdlings are visible in their attendance. Gee, I think I know how this whole hit and run thing will be going after Turdman on the Law and Order Committee finds a way to throw it out so that his kids will continue to have a place to drink.

Silly me. He just wants to keep his daughters happy. Riley ain't goin' nowhere like jail or prison. And the Turdclan supplies all the booze and drugs they need at home so no need to worry about the good times running dry!

I guess that until you actually see what these pictures are showing you, nothing will change.

Now, shall we consider real drug testing for the jobs out there? And for sports? No more of this slipping Chuckles a $50 instead of peeing in a cup. Have certified testing done in a clinic in Devil's Lake with less than one hour notice for random tests. Failing to take the random tests 2 times in a row is the same as a "FAIL". Try that and see if the business at Gilbert's Funeral Home doesn't drop off dramatically this next season!

Y'all can try to turn away if you want, but those pictures tell you that you have a lot of work to do, or a lot of graves to dig. The choice is yours. It has always been yours. I'll be back with more of everything.

Proves The Point

That photo I had above of that woman "Chi-laxing" with the two small children proves a point. I had said that the children should not be taken away from her (thinking they were hers) because the foster care and social net were deeply flawed and those kids could end up in a home situation where they were just being used for the money and worse.

Well, turns out that the woman with the beer pose is Jannal McDonald, daughter of Demus McDonald! Those two kids were given to her in adoption. I wonder how well Social Services screened her? She gets paid for having those kids. Now we know where the beer money is coming from.

Oh Ya, Tony McBony can be so proud of all his family! Demon McD sure set the standard here.

Now, more than ever, I feel sorry for those kids. If this is the best that Social Services can do for them, pray for every child that is in the system because we know that if this is the behavior they like to brag about, much worse happens when there is no camera.

Do not take children away from their parents and family unless they are at high risk. Placing them in a home that is never adequately screened does not solve the problem, rather, as you can see, it creates a setting that encourages them to make all the worst and most wrong decisions about themselves on down the road.

More later.

No Willy

The picture I labeled as Willy Herman, is indeed, Cameron Black. Yes, the same Cameron Black that is often taken along as a 'guest' of Carls McKay and Walking Ego on their overnight trips. One wonders what his qualifications are for the honor of traveling first class on the Tribe's money. Oh ya, he's gay. I suppose that is all it takes to amuse some people.

So, send me some photos of Willy Herman (He would be the one with all the scabs) and I will post it here and everyone can see the difference.

Oh, and it also explains the nick: "Cameltoes", doesn't it?

Calm Before The Storm

By now you have come to realize that when the blog entries are very brief and there are days when no entries are made, it is not because nothing is going on, but rather because I am gathering and processing loads of information.

Where the Turdclan and the Tribal Council used to breathe a little easier if there was no blog that day, they know now that something awful their way comes, shortly thereafter.

Stand Up or Lie Down

These are your kids, your community, your future. By the time I am done with this, those of you who have been humiliated by your children's behavior will see that you are not alone. Many, many of you will have to realize that the children, in droves, are suiciding by their behaviors. Maybe then you will do something about it. I know, you have lots of time to think about it as you are shoving coins and bills into the slot machines, praying for B18, and getting intoxicated or high yourselves. Just don't wait too long.

You see it is worse with each generation. The dangerous behaviors we see here are learned first in the home, and then from the peers that bond over bad behaviors. If you merely resent being exposed and continue to slam the doors and wallow in denial, it is not my children you are burying, but your own.

Further, when your child wipes out and takes others with them, can you look in the eyes of the other families and say: "I wish there was something I could have done."? Or will you just turn to Act III and wallow in self-pity while denying you could have done anything to change the outcome?

You see how allowing rapists, murderers, child molesters, embezzlers to run your community you have, by your self-pity, abdicated your role as protector of your own children? By allowing this, and you do allow it by not standing up against it, you have created the 3-legged races that end at the graveyard.

See how happy and smiling they are as they play on the road that will run them down to nothing?

Look at the picture of Mouse, so drunk he has pissed himself, and it is easy to see his future in some gutter of some concrete canyons where people spit on drunken Indians. Is that all he deserves?

Your children prefer to be stoned to being present in their own lives. What does that say about you? Your family? Your community?

This is not one family's problem, this is everyone's problem.

You see the homes -- and you know who lives there-- where these activities are sponsored, why do you do nothing?

You see the adults posing with the kids they buy the beer for. You think maybe you could pressure the badgers to actually do something about that? Not like they are hiding it. They are out in the open and bragging about it. I think that Peter Pan could be brought up on charges.

I think you can get a more realistic view of your basketball team. Do you want to pretend you had no idea they were a bunch of drunks and stoners? You still want to cheer them on as they hit the hardwood, so drunk they can't play? What matters more to you: Having a team you pretend is the best; or making sure that the kids that are on that team care enough about themselves and the honor of playing for the community that loves them, to live clean and sober lives? You pick.

While you are at it, stop pretending it's not a problem. Stop pretending they will grow out of it. Haven't you buried enough of the children to know that ignoring it is fatal? Dry Reservation my ass!

And look at the values these kids have. Their bestest friends forever get killed and they all stay quiet because they don't want to ruin the party time for themselves or the rest of their "friends". They protect the people who are killing them because they want to be accepted into that group.

They learned all that from you.

You know where to find me.

~Cat

Halloween 2007

Thistle Show You

I see there is a lot of traffic to the Thistle page. Like an addiction for some who dread what they will find and yet they go there, again and again, because they know the truth about these behaviors, the truth about what is killing the kids, is right there in front of them.

The truth they don't want to see, Thistle shows them. No surprise that most of the bozos are from the well-to-do families. They above all others, have lived in homes of hypocrisy and lies. They also know that nothing will be done to them to make them change their behaviors because their parents are in positions of authority and prominence in the community.

These kids kill other kids by these behaviors and no one will raise a hand in voting, to stop them. These kids will kill themselves with these behaviors, and no one will raise a hand to prevent it. I am only giving you a glimpse of the future you set for yourselves by allowing the corruption to be ongoing and ever worsening.

Hypocrisy Like...

Carl McKay brags about making a $32MILLION profit this year. PROFIT. That means after all the expenses are taken care of such as payroll, inventory, materials and utilities, he has $32 Million dollars to split amongst his friends. I hear also that a generous $325 check may, just might, could be, coming to the homes of a few Elders.

That's it. A few crumbs for the elders and nothing for the rest of you. I say to the thistle kids, party at Carl McKay's place! Woo Hoo! Party at the Turdclan! Woo Hoo!

Culpable Contribution

I say to the family of the man who was hit and run by "Slim" Riley Smith, sue that bastard's father for all he is worth. You have photos of him partying, underage drinking, at his own house and it would appear, plenty of adults are in attendance. That means, his rich daddy has contributed to that toad's alcohol consumption and is a part of his problem.

Get a lawyer on this one. It will be worth it. I say that since they so free take what is yours, you take what is theirs. Otherwise, no consequences and nothing is learned. That oughta wipe the smile off that toad's fat face!

Daddy can't say he was not aware that his dough boy son was drinking underage when clearly, he encouraged it. That makes him responsible. He has a lot of money, so go get you some. Not that it will ease the pain of your loved one as he languishes in agony from his injuries, but it will bring a little consequence to the ones responsible for his injuries.

Picture A Gun

For those parents who continue to bury their heads in the sand and pretend they will never have to bury their kids in the cemetery, I want you to look at the pictures and realize how deadly this is, especially those of kids with booze and drugs in vehicles. Now, picture them holding a gun instead of a beer, a crack pipe, hard liquor. The results are the same.

If you don't care enough about your kids to stop them from doing this get out your shovel and start digging.

And since so many of these kids misbehaving are from the Turdclan, and the parties are sponsored by the Turdlings themselves, rethink how beneficial it is for your children to be running with the most corrupt and evil that exists out there.

Still think it is harmless? How many dead children do you see in the photos already? How many will you see in the next week? Months? Next year? The time to do something is now.

YOU taught them this behavior. They learned it from you. So, while there is still time, at least make an effort?

Seashelly V. Lois

Seashelly, hanging on by a thread to her seat in Tribal Council. By locking out the families that would have voted her out, and not letting them into the meeting, she has maintained her paycheck far too long.

And with the Tribal Council itself voting to protect her, you have to ask if any of them are worth the snot from your nose.

Considering that Lois is mad at Seashelly for keeping her rapist boyfriend on the payroll (Suspended with pay for being arrested for raping yet another underage girl) what she has done is authorized him to stay off work, drink, booze, spend your money and not have to clock in. Some "punishment" considering that is what he was doing all along.

For some reason, Lois wants her out now. Then why did she vote to save her position for her?

Why is she helping Seashelly to obtain employment equal to her current pay, should she finally be voted out? Hypocrisy reaches new heights in the ongoing mud wrestling championships between those two.

Lois wants you to see her as your "hero" in this debacle.

Do not attempt to adjust the brightness on your screen. This is as dim as it looks, as rank as it smells and so far, no end in sight.

He Wants Your Kids

This guy says he is from Denver, Colorado. I think he is one of my readers from there. If so, he won't like this. He also is on Bebo and represents himself as a total stoner really into Basketball. You know, like he is one of the kids out there, so they feel like he is their friend. I suspect that after cruising the Bebo site, he realized that a lot of kids are openly into drugs on the rez and they could possibly expand his market. I cannot confirm that he is a dealer, but he sure represents himself to be. He is after your kids. As if there is not enough drugs and death on the rez as it is, he is willing to supply more.

A lot of kids on Bebo signed on with him as their 'friend' and put him in their top 16, which is some sort of status thing amongst the bebo social circuits. Gee, wonder where he got all that cash? HmMMM.

Oh ya, and he looks like he really 'cares.'

Your values, your kids, your trips to the cemetery.

Your rez has become a toilet of corruption, drugs and alcohol. You still have no clue as to how to stand up for yourselves by standing up for those who are being mistreated? Abused? Treated unjustly? Let me know when it is worth it to you to get a clue.

You know where to find me.
